TOBACCO POOL BOOKS

TO CLOSE OCTOBER 28

One More Effort to Be Made to Get Required Two-Thirds Of Acreage Planted.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Oct. 6.—The books for the Dark Tobacco Growers' Cooperative Association, now being organized, will close finally at midnight October 28, according to a unanimous decision reached by the district organization committee here this afternoon.

This closing date is absolutely final and growers who do not sign by that time will not have another opportunity to pledge this year's crop. Also the reports made at that time will determine whether or not the organization is to become a reality, to do which it must have pledged a minimum of two-thirds of the total acreage planted.

At today's meeting the reports showed a total of 188,960 acres pledged out of a total planting of 313,500, the latter being largely estimated, giving sixty per cent. This is regarded as a splendid showing, but Joseph Passonneau, organization director, told the meeting very emphatically that estimates either as to the amount signed up or the acreage in any county would not be considered when it comes to making final reports. Verified and accurate figures must be produced for each county, figures "that you can swear to," he said.

Farm to Farm Census

To get the figures as to the total acreage planted, each county is to make a farm to farm census. This was expected to be done by this time with the figures available today, but many counties had been so busy soliciting contracts they had only in a few cases taken the census.

Mr. Passonneau and Judge Robert W. Bingham both stressed the fact that under no circumstances will guess work be resorted to, not only for fair dealing with those signing, but without control of full two-thirds of the crop the association could not hope to do business successfully. Judge Bingham who has instigated the organization and who has financed it up to now, also told the crowd that "if we don't put this over this time, it won't be put over." But every committeeman present, and there were about 200 here with Robertson county, Tenn., heading the list with thirty, had no fears but that the organization would be a go.

This District Over

From the first assemblage this morning every man said a few days more time would surely turn the trick. From every section came reports of splendid sentiment and the growers deeply interested and signing readily. Counties which had not attained their minimum were confident they would do so in a short time and those already over said they would materially increase their figures.

On the fare of today's figures the Green River district has 75.5 per cent pledged; the Stemming district 53.6; the One-sucker district 40.0, and the dark fired district 64.3, but as stated, many of the figures as to total acreage were estimated. Judge Bingham's speech was enthusiastically received. He told the workers they are engaged in a war of construction and rebuilding of their sections rather than of destruction. He told them they must combat ignorance, prejudice and selfishness, the last "not alone in the dealer and speculator, but in the farmer who expects to get an advantage in price this year. "We must make him look to the years ahead and think of them if this association does not go through, and what his lot will be then."

LIQUOR SEIZED AT CONVENTION

New Orleans, Oct. 3.—Liquor valued at $50,000 was seized by federal prohibition agents here today in two hotel rooms rented in the name of Rene Clerc, secretary of the Grain Dealers' National association, which is holding its annual national convention here.

The seized liquors, included champagne, cognac, thirty-six sacks containing bottled whiskey, thirty barrels of beer and all the ingredients for cocktails. The federal agents who conducted the raid, announced that they found "a regular old fashioned bar, with a brass railing," and white-coated negro boys serving drinks.

Following the entrance of the dry agents, numerous thirsty visitors, who had not heard of the seizure, approached the door and placing their lips to the keyhole, exclaimed in hoarse whispers:

"Let's take a boat ride."

The phrase, according to the dry agents, was the password to the oasis.

"The boat has sailed," replied a prohibition enforcement agent. Information leading to the raid was given, it is understood, by a driver who transported the liquor. This man said he had been promised $75 for his work, and got only $40.

LEGION DECRIES

SMYRNA HORROR

Louisville, Oct. 4.—Jefferson Post, American Legion, has gone on record as opposing the atrocities which are occurring daily in Smyrna and demanded in resolutions adopted last night that action be taken by President Harding to relieve the condition. The Louisville Ministerial Association has called a meeting to protest against the government's inaction in the Smyrna affair. The Legion post endorsed the $750,000 Memorial Association bond issue to be submitted to voters next month. Judge H. W. Bingham, member of the Memorial Auditorium Committee, explained the issue to the legionaires.

The resolution dealing with Turkish affairs declared that the recent acts of the Kemalist army constituted a menace to world progress. The resolution also states that "we, who took part in the World war again are willing to back up our opinions with action, and that every man who supports this motion pledges himself to offer his services to the armed forces of the country should a call be made in carrying out the proposals of this resolution."

The resolution also states that "we, who took part in the World war again are willing to back up our opinions with action, and that every man who supports this motion pledges himself to offer his services to the armed forces of the country should a call be made in carrying out the proposals of this resolution."

HARDING DECLINES TO ENTER POLITICAL CAMPAIGN

Nashville, Tenn., Oct. 3.—Newell Sanders, Republican nominee for United States senator, today gave out a letter from President Harding in which the latter in declining an invitation to visit Knoxville for a campaign address said: "I do not think it is in harmony with good ethics for the president to participate in a campaign during his incumbency in office."

The president also suggested that if he made one speech in any state he would be charged with great partiality if he did not make one in every state where a senator was being elected and such a program was wholly out of the question aside from the ethics involved.

WOMEN WORK ON ROADS IN KNOTT

Hindman, Ky., Oct. 4.—Three thousand persons, residents of Knott County, turned out with pick and shovel and devoted Friday and Saturday to the upbuilding of the main county roads.

Whole families took part, the women in many cases working shoulder to shoulder with their husbands. Women teachers in the Hindman Settlement School and in the Caney Creek community blisters their hands by handling picks and throwing rocks.

Roads leading up steep hills and the sides of mountains were given a more gradual slope. In many instances the course of the road was altered altogether to comply with modern needs.

This movement is the first concerted effort on the part of Knott County to win the laurels in the County Achievement contest being put on by The Louisville Courier-Journal and Berea College.

SERIES OF MEETINGS AT NEW JAYMUS CHURCH

Rev. Garland Embry will begin a series of meetings at New Jaymus Christian Church, Monday night, Oct. 16th. Rev. Embry is a forceful and persuasive speaker and it is predicted that the services will be productive of much good for the cause of Christ.

ONE KILLED; TWO INJURED

IN AUTOMOBILE WRECK

Charlie Peters Dies Instantly; Cora Revard, d'Roy Blankenship Seriously Hurt.

Charlie Peters, age 32, of Beaver Dam, was instantly killed, his neck being broken, Roy Blankenship, of Heaver Dam, suffered a double fracture of the jaw bone, lost several teeth and, was otherwise injured. Rose Revard, of Owensboro, received a broken collar bone and body bruises when a car owned and driven by Blankenship went over an embankment at the foot of Buford hill at about 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night, Oct. 3rd.

It seems that Peters and Blankenship went to Owensboro, Tuesday morning, and becoming intoxicated picked up the Revard girl and started for home. It is reported that the car was being driven at a very high rate of speed when it left the road, turning over and plunging the occupants, all of whom were in the front seat, underneath. Blankenship has a wife and children. Peters had been married but was divorced several years ago. He was a successful restaurant keeper.

The girl was removed to Owensboro and it is reported will recover. Blankenship was taken to his home and on the following day went to a Louisville hospital, where he remained until Sunday and is rapidly recovering. The body of Peters was conveyed to Heaver Dam Tuesday night and was buried at Liberty, Wednesday afternoon.

It is said that the two survivors were still in an intoxicated condition when removed from the wreck.

FAMILY REUNION

A number of Ohio Comtians attended a family reunion at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Crawford at their home on the Ohio River at the end of Woodford Ave., Owensboro, one day last week. Over 50 were present and there was dinner enough served for twice that number. The occasion was a very enjoyable one.

Among those outside Owensboro present were the following: Mr. J. T. Moorman and family, Hartford; Mr. Willie Haynes and family, Beaver Dam; Mr. Ad Frizzell, wife and daughter, Prentiss; Miss Mary Bell Wilson, Prentiss; Mr. Marlon Haynes and family, Booneville, Ind.; Mr. Walden Haynes, Hartford.

54,000,000 LBS. BURLEY

SOLO AT ASSOCIATION PRICE

Huge Purchase is Made By R. J. Reynolds; Some to Be Exported.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 9.—Fifty-four million pounds of tobacco were sold late today by the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, through President and general manager James C. Stone of the Association to the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, through its Kentucky vice president, T. H. Kirk. The tobacco was sold at the Association prices for the Association grades, president Stone said. Part of the tobacco, it was said, was sold for export. The sale included practically the entire holdings of the Association.

ROUGH RIVER SCOUT

MAKES MAIDEN TRIP

The Rough River Scout, just recently completed by Mr. Dowden Estes, left the local wharf Monday of last week on her maiden journey to Evansville with a small cargo on board. After being inspected and pronounced seaworthy she made the return trip with about seven tons of mixed freight, arriving at the home port at 10 a. m. Saturday. It is not the intention of Capt. Estes to make regular trips at this time. He will probably engage in transporting coal from a mine ten miles down the river to the Ellis Lee Company's coal yards at this place until spring, when he will deliver oil for the Evansville Oil Co. along Green and Rough rivers.

HARTFORD HIGH SCHOOL

INSTALLS RADIOPHONE

Public spirited citizens of this city donated funds for the purchase of a radio outfit for Hartford High School. The set, which has arrived is listed at $100.00 but a reduction was given the school, because of the inclement weather. A successful trial of its powers has not been given. This school claims the honor of being the first school in this section to install a radiophone.

MRS. W. S. TINSLEY EN-

TERTEINS SOCIAL CLUB

Mrs. W. S. Tinsley delightfully entertained the Ladies' Social Club at her home in Clay Street, Friday afternoon. Most of the members and Miss Thelma Bennett, a guest, were present. Six interesting games of progressive pool were enjoyed and delicious food was served. Those present were presented beautiful floral favors.

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS WITH MRS. J. H. B. CARSON

An interesting session of the Woman's Club was held at the home of Mrs. J. H. B. Carson, Saturday afternoon. A sketch of the life of Charles Dickens and a number of selections from his works were read and discussed. The Club will meet with Mrs. Rowan Holbrook next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ward and little son, of Owensboro, Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Hoover and little daughter, and Mr. and Mrs. Alva Kirk and little daughter, of Buford, spent Saturday night and Sunday of last week in Hartford, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. Crabtree.

Dr. A. B. Riley and son, John, Prof. Wilbur Rhoads and Mr. Cecil Heavrin spent from Friday until Sunday at a point near Rochester, fishing. They caught a number of the funny tribe and altogether had a very nice outing in spite of the inclemency of the weather.

There will be services at the local Methodist Church next Sunday. Sunday School 9:45 a. m.; preaching by pastor 11 a. m. and 7 p. m. Everybody cordially invited.

DON'T FORGET THE GOOD ROAD MEETING SATURDAY AFTERNOON AT HARTFORD.

Mr. W. H. Beau, of Centertown, was a pleasant caller Tuesday.

YOUR LAST OPPORTUNITY TO SIGN THE PLEDGE

Because of the fact that some of the counties of Western Kentucky and Tennessee had not been properly organized, the time for signing pledges has been extended to midnight, Oct. 28th. This will be absolutely the last day you will have the opportunity of signing.

As there are a few sections of Old County which were not properly worked and there are many who desire to sign, these may do so by signing pledges and sending to me within the extended time.

There is no doubt about the success of the pool, but you should sign and help make the organization 100 per cent perfect as well as show the world you are not a slacker.

BOY MISSING FROM

HOME AT REYNOLDS

Mrs. Bessie Newton, of Reynolds, Ohio County, appealed to the police yesterday to help her find her 13-year old son Earl, who, she stated, had run away from her home Monday morning. She told Chief Lyons that she had started the boy on his way to school and that the boy protested against having to go to school. Later in the day, she learned that he had not appeared at the school house and she gained the impression that he had made his way to Owensboro. The lad was clothed in blue overalls.

TEAM IS KILLED BY FALLING TREE

A team of horses was killed near Hottin, Monday of last week by a falling tree. Men were cutting timber which was being hauled to a point on the L. & N. R. R. and the driver was returning to the woods for a load, driving the horses near a tree being cut, when the tree by a puff of wind, or error in judgment, fell in a direction contrary to that expected, striking and crushing the team instantly. The team was owned by Foster Ralph of Hottin, Ky., but driven by another man.

FIRST WOMAN FOR

UNITED STATES SENATE

Mrs. W. H. Felton, 87 Years of Age, To Succeed Senator Watson.

A lady, Ga., Dec. 2.—Mrs. W. H. Felton, 87 years old, of Cartersville, Ga., became the first woman member of the United States senate today when she was appointed by Governor Thomas W. Hardwick to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Thomas E. Watson until the election of a successor in November.

Whether Mrs. Felton will actually have an opportunity to qualify and serve as a member of the senate is doubtful, for her successor will have been elected when the senate meets in December.

Mrs. Felton is the widow of Dr. W. H. Felton, of Cartersville, Ga., who served as a member of congress for several terms. She has long been active in Georgia politics. She was a friend of the late Senator Watson and supported Governor Hardwick in his recent campaign for re-nomination.

Mrs. Felton has a wide acquaintance with leaders in national affairs and in 1921 conferred with President Harding while he was visiting in St. Augustine, Fla., prior to assuming the presidency.

At the same time Governor Hardwick announced his candidacy to succeed Senator Watson, who died last week in Washington. The primary will be held October 17.

Mrs. Felton announced her acceptance of the appointment.

Governor Hardwick in a statement said he had offered the appointment to Mrs. Watson, the widow of the late senator, but "my deep and real regret Mrs. Watson has only a few remaining months of life and an appointment to the public service in her own name renders it impossible for her to accept."

BENEFIT—BUTLER

The marriage of Miss Grace Butler and Mr. Charles Butler, a local Methodist minister, at 7:30 o'clock, Thursday evening, Oct. 5, at the Grayson, pastor, officiating. Only the immediate family and a few children were present. The couple left immediately for a wedding trip, which will include a visit to Washington, D. C. upon their return they will reside at Ford City.

The bride is the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Butler, formerly of Newport, is one of Owensboro's most popular young ladies and a successful teacher in the public schools of this city. The groom is the only son of the late Thomas Butler and Mrs. Butler and is one of Ohio County's most prominent and successful young farmers. Since his father's death a few years ago he has superintended the large Butler plantation at Pattiesville.

May their matrimonial career be filled with happiness and success.

INFORMATION FROM THE EXPERIMENT STATION—AGRICULTURAL PAPERS AND THE COUNTY AGENT'S OFFICE

Rural School Children Need Hot Noon Lunches

With the opening of schools throughout Kentucky and the prospect of cold weather in the near future, the problem of the noon-day lunch for children in rural schools again has come to the front as an important one that demands attention, according to Miss Maybelle Cornell, head of the home economics department of the College of Agriculture. That this problem is receiving due consideration in many parts of the state is shown by the fact that a considerable number of schools are serving at least one hot dish to supplement the cold lunch brought by the children. However, the serious need of the hot lunch is realized by comparatively few persons.

Under average conditions, rural school children in Kentucky follow a daily program that makes it necessary for them to get along on little more than two meals a day. As a rule they have breakfast at about 6 o'clock in the morning and by recess time are hungry enough to eat what the lunch which they have brought from home. What may be left after recess is sufficient for the noon lunch with the result that they go home hungry about 4 o'clock to get another lunch that gives them without any appetite for the evening meal. No man is willing to work on less than three full meals a day. School children, therefore, who are growing and studying can hardly be expected to do their best work on two meals a day.

Perhaps the first requirement for starting a hot school lunch in any school is an active organization of persons interested in the welfare of the children that can superintend the project. This may be a parent-teachers' association, a community club or a group of farm women. The teacher of the school should naturally be a supporter of the project since she should be interested enough in her pupils to see that they are kept fit physically.

"Complete details dealing with starting a school lunch, financing the project, the equipment necessary, 15 suggested lunches and more than a score of recipes are given in extension circular No. 95 which may be obtained free by writing the Experiment Station, Lexington."

Farmers Take Steps To Make Poultry Pay

Kentucky farmers are showing increased interest in the many practical steps that can be taken to make poultry raising more profitable in the state, poultrymen at the College of Agriculture say. Birds of exceptional quality that have been exhibited by farmers at the many county and district fairs held over the state during the summer just past, now carry home a higher price in many parts of the state and inquiries from farmers as to the best methods of stock raising mark the progress that is being made in the improvement of the state's farm poultry business, they say.

"One of the things that every farmer can do at this time of the year toward making his farm poultry flock more profitable is to separate the hens and pullets and put the latter in their winter quarters where they can be fed for winter egg production," A. R. Sayth, one of the college poultrymen said. Getting the birds in good feed at this time of the year and keeping them in that condition is the best way to get heavy winter egg production and avoid fall and winter moulting among pullets. This can be done easily if the pullets receive all the high and grain that they will eat.

"Experiments have shown that a mash made of 150 pounds each of middlings and lean and two pounds each of corn meal and tankage is an excellent one for pullets at this time of the year. This should be placed in a hopper and kept before the birds at all times. In addition, they should receive all the grain they will eat. A good grain mixture may be made of 70 pounds of corn and 30 pounds of oats, or wheat. Many poultrymen make a practice of keeping grain on the floor of the house all the time or in a hopper where the birds can pick at it whenever hungry."

determine the best rate of feeding six pecks an acre found best rate to seed wheat

Plantings made at the rate of six pecks of seed an acre have given the best wheat yields on the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station farm where experiments have been conducted for many years to in Kentucky, according to E. J. Kline, a member of the station agronomy department. This amount is sufficient in nearly all cases but to sow less than six pecks an acre is only advisable where the soil is extremely rich or the seedlings made very early in the season. The statement was made in response to scores of inquiries being received at this time of the year from farmers in all parts of the state who were making preparations for wheat planting.

"Some years, five pecks of seed an acre have given yields just as large as those obtained from six pecks of seed but in no case have the yields from the smaller amount of seed been larger. On very rich tobacco land, four pecks of seed an acre occasionally have given yields as large as those from other rates of seeding. However, on corn land where wheat does not stand so readily, seedlings made at a lower rate than six pecks an acre practically never have given yields quite as large as those obtained from six pecks of seed an acre."

"Occasionally, in very severe winters, even to eight pecks an acre have given larger yields than those obtained from six pecks an acre. Kentucky farmers often sow five pecks an acre, or even a bushel on tobacco land. Under most conditions, this rate of seeding will give practically a full crop. It is true that wheat will stand out extensively when sown thin but is more likely to straw fall in such cases and seldom yields as well. Seven pecks of seed an acre is to be pastured to a considerable extent."

Late Corn This Year Is Best Suited For Silage

Practically all late corn grown in Kentucky during the summer just past will be better suited for silage than for any other form of feed, according to Wayland Rhoads, beef cattle specialist of the College of Agriculture. As a result of dry weather experienced throughout the state during the corn growing season, the late corn crop contains more stalk than grain, thus making it especially desirable as silage. Any farmer who has a field of late corn and an empty silo has the possibility for a full supply of good winter feed for his cattle.

"Of the 11,000 silos in the state, practically all of them will be filled this fall. During the last two years when labor costs were high and feed costs low, there have been a few cases where the silo was not as profitable as dry feeding. However, many farmers have found that the silo was a great saver of feed even under these conditions. Having proved its value to the farmer who keeps ten cows or more throughout the winter, the silo is now past the experimental stage. In the case of a dairy, this method of storing feed saves from 30 to 40 per cent of the feed bill. Where steers are to be fattened in the winter feed lot, the feeding of silage in the ration is the general rule because of the cheaper gains which can be produced by this method. On farms where a breeding herd is kept, the silo is even more valuable."

"If cattle are to be carried through the winter and finished on grass the following spring and summer, the same field of corn that is fed dry will feed one-third more cattle if placed in the silo. The gains made by the cattle the following spring on grass are about the same under the two methods of feeding. If the corn has become dry before the silage is made, it is best to add water as the silo is being filled."

Farm And Home News From Over Kentucky

Community meetings are playing an important part in helping Union county farmers and their wives solve many of their problems of farm and home improvement, County Agent L. C. Brewer says. A total of 327 persons recently attended three meetings held in the county in one week.

Livingston county poultry keepers showed a lively interest in demonstrations held during the summer just past by County Agent L. C. Pace and the extension division of the College of Agriculture at Lexington to show them how to separate the laying and brooding hens in their flocks. A total of 20 demonstrations were held. One hundred eighty-five of the 600 hens handled proved to be low producers.

Two thousand acres of corn and soybeans grown together in Nelson county during the summer just past have helped farmers in that section of the state to realize the value of this combination for soil improvement and hogging down purposes, County Agent C. L. Hill says. From $3 to $6.13 worth of nitrogen was added to the soil by each acre of the beans.

More than 65 McLean county farm boys and girls took part in a recent junior agricultural club fair held by County Agent Robert H. Ford. They exhibited a total of 96 chickens and 38 pigs. A number of interested McLean county persons encouraged the youngsters in their junior farm work by posting a total of $175 in cash prizes.

MOVED WALL WITHOUT INJURY

Engineering Experts Proved It No Trick At All To Lengthen Big Buffalo Church.

In older days, when the medieval cathedral builders wished to lengthen one of their great churches (and this happened very frequently), there was nothing for it but to pull down the western wall with its two towers. If it possessed any, or the eastern face, and lengthen the structure to the desired extent.

Today, however, thanks to the highly developed art of "house moving," we can lengthen a church without any preliminary destruction of its principal front. As witness of this, the front of the Central Presbyterian church, Buffalo, was recently moved 30 feet eastward, to permit a lengthening of the auditorium to that extent. The front of the building is 75 feet wide over the lateral buttresses, 65 feet high and 8 feet wide at the thickest parts. The weight of the wall, as moved, is 1,000 tons.

The preliminary operations consisted of removing the front, preparing the new foundations, 30 feet to the eastward, and making a clean cut through the roof and through the side walls, where they abutted against the church front. While this was being done the front wall was jacked up upon rollers. The work of moving the 1,000-ton mass was done by means of screw-jacks, operated by 15 men, and the wall completed its journey of 30 feet without injury in 16 hours.—Scientific American.

When Washington Knocked Out Columbus

No! Not a prize fight, but a knock-out blow for the early development of Kentucky. Washington, D. C., vs. Columbus, Ky.

Here's the story in brief:

The first Congress was called upon to decide upon a location for the Capital of these United States.

Thomas Jefferson, then Secretary of State under President Washington, wanted it at Columbus, Ky.

If you would know why his plan failed—why Washington was finally selected as the Capital—

PERRYVILLE FAILURE DUE TO EXCESSIVE LOANS

Danville, Ky., Oct. 4.—The cause of the failure of the Peoples Bank & Trust Company, of Perryville, which concern closed its doors yesterday, is attributed to excessive loans which brought about deficiency in revenue. The bank had a capital of $40,000 and a reserve of the same sum. Deposits totaled $300,000 and loans $475,000.

The State Banking Commission has taken over the institution for liquidation purposes, Deputy Banking Commissioner W. W. Peavy, who has temporary charge. He stated that in his opinion the depositors would be paid in full.

This is the second bank failure that Boyle county has suffered in the past three months. The first State bank closed its doors for liquidation purposes at that time.

"OUT OF THE MUD"

Two unheralded but none the less significant events transpired in Ohio County last week. The first was another of the Fiscal Court's inane sessions at which as usual claims for inefficient road work under the archaic "hand system," at fancy prices, were allowed, the only chance of paying which was to borrow more money, thus increasing the county's already burdensome and illegal amount of indebtedness.

The other event was a meeting of a number of representative citizens from various parts of the county for the purpose of devising ways and means of getting a real and permanent system of road work.

Under the provisions of the act of the General Assembly of 1920 establishing a system of inter-county-seat roads, Ohio County is entitled to four projects, totaling over one hundred miles and reaching every section of the county. But so far only a few miles of one project have been undertaken and none completed. Other sections of the state are reaching State and Federal aid, but Ohio County is passed by.

Why? Simply because other counties have insured local aid in the way of bond issues, special road taxes, etc., while Ohio has done practically nothing. Ohio County is in debt in the neighborhood of $100,000. This is many thousands of dollars above the limit allowed by law and things are getting no better. Let that matter, its cause and its remedy, lie. The all important question is how is Ohio County to "pull itself out of the mud," keep up with the other counties in the matter of good roads? The money now spent on roadwork is in a great measure wasted and the time is fast approaching when even that haphazard work will be impossible for lack of funds. When that comes it means business chaos and industrial stagnation, for highway communication of some passable kind is the backbone of a community's prosperity.

There is a remedy for this discouraging condition, however, if we will only adopt it. If this county will furnish road improvement funds in respectable amounts, the State and Federal governments will expand within our borders two dollars for each dollar spent by us. In addition, the roads so constructed will be maintained without cost to the county. Isn't the statement true, which was made by a prominent physician at the meeting mentioned above: "A man would be a fool not to take advantage of a proposition like that?"

Therefore only the method of raising the local funds remains.
Either an annual levy of 20 cents on the hundred dollars of our assessment to be expended within the year levied in a haphazard manner or the same levy used as a sinking fund to cover the interest and pay off a bond issue is permitted. It is proposed to issue $300,000 of bonds payable in one to thirty years, bearing 5 percent interest, the proceeds to be expended in cooperation with the State and Nation in building good roads here at home, under the direction and control of a bi-partisan commission. To do this the question of such an issue must be submitted to a vote of the people. However a favorable vote would result, we believe, when it is generally understood that Ohio County now pays automobile and gasoline taxes to pay the annual interest and payment on the proposed bond issue, yet we have no roads to show for it. Let's get curs! Everybody else is. The total of the county's outlay in taxes will not be increased and as will have over a hundred miles of state-maintained highways to show for our enterprise. In addition the taking over of so much of the county's road burden by the State would release the more of its regular revenue for working the other roads of the county. It's a "two for one" proposition either way you go and always in our favor. Wasn't the doctor right?

Plans for submitting the bond proposition to the voters will be discussed and perfected at a mass meeting at the Court House in Hartford on Saturday afternoon, October 14, at 2 o'clock. Let every lover of his county, the best county in the world, be there, prepared to push forward.

RED CROSS WINNING IN FIGHT FOR HEALTH

Better, Stronger Citizenry Now Emerging Out of Work in United States.

The American Red Cross as an evangelist of better health has looked its problem square in the face. How it accepted the task revealed to it in the nation's physical condition as brought out during the World War, and conscientiously applied its activities to correction forms a vivid chapter in the forthcoming annual report.
Historically and practically, nursing is a basic work for the Red Cross. In its public health nursing service, in instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition classes, first aid and life saving courses and health centers, the American Red Cross is applying effectively the lessons learned during the war and making for a healthier, stronger and better nourished citizenry.

The task of the Red Cross Public Health nurse in the 1,210 nursing services now operating throughout the country instructing their communities in health essentials and disease prevention is demonstrating the possibilities of human betterment and the great benefits of enlightenment.

During the last year 313 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. In order to promote this work $30,000 was allotted to provide women to prepare themselves for public nursing. The home visits made by the 1,210 nurses aggregated nearly 1,500,000, visits to schools numbered 140,000, and in six months 1,250,000 school children were inspected by these nurses and where defects were found advised examination by physicians. In rural communities this service has made a very marked advance and has won thousands of converts to approved methods of disease prevention.

In home hygiene and care of the sick instruction, which fits the student in methods of proper care where illness is not so serious as to require professional service, the Red Cross conducted 3,884 classes during the last year, enrolled 2,356 instructors, 93,448 students and issued 42,656 certificates.

On June 30, 1922, nutrition service embraced 1,199 classes, with a total of 27,523 children and 2,589 enrolled dieti-tians. Seventy-eight food selection classes graduated 733 who received Red Cross certificates. In general health activities Red Cross Chapters maintained 377 health centers, serving as many communities, provided 38,751 health lectures for large audiences everywhere, while clinics numbered over 10,000.

Red Cross Gains Strength in All Foreign Fields

In insular possessions of the United States and in foreign lands the American Red Cross scored heavy gains during the last year, passing the previous membership high mark of 1013
by 4,261 and advancing the figure to 156,408. The Philippines take the lead, gaining nearly 100 per cent, now having 115,917 members. In Europe the 1921 Roll Call enrolled 11,125,
with the Constantinople Chapter reporting 665, a gain of 33 members.
China was 1,782 members, a gain of 590; the little Virgin Islands have 1,000, while the Dominican Republic with 2,927 advanced from its previous high mark by 1,423 new members.
Haiti, organized in 1920, now has nearly 1,000 enrolled. Mexico reports 354, a gain of 327 in one year. The American Red Cross has spread its membership over some 70 foreign lands and its Junior membership outside of the United States is close to 700,000.

Red Cross Roll Call Heard World Around

The Annual Roll Call of the American Red Cross for registration of the membership for 1923 will begin on Armistice Day, November 11, and close on Thanksgiving Day, November 30. The ground work for this stupendous task of re-enrolling the membership throughout the world has been laid in a plan for the first complete and comprehensive system of registration of the Red Cross membership in all its 5,300 active Chapters at home and abroad.

An important feature of the round-the-world Roll Call campaign will be a universal effort to re-enlist the service of war-time Red Cross workers in the peace program by their participation in the Roll Call. In this way the vast army of volunteers will once more affiliate with the work of the Red Cross in its manifold phases. Cooperation also has been assured by Government and private maritime interests in a deep-sea Roll Call that is designed to reach every member or potential member in every part of the world who may be en voyage or temporarily in any port.

Thousands of Chapters will adopt the home canvass plan of enrollment which originated in Pittsburgh, where last year it resulted in a membership increase of 50 per cent. All records in this year's campaign will be kept on standard size cards to be filed by each Chapter for future use.

Will be given you

A Riot of Amusement—Two Hours of Laughter

Few people, whether learned or ignorant but appreciate Delicious Foolery, Brilliant Silliness, Clever Satire, Ridiculous Humor, Merry Comedy—all of which is combined in one of the funniest, most humorous productions ever screened, taken from one of the greatest products of that author whose fame will never die

MARK TWAIN,

"A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court"

Who hasn't laughed for hours in reading or hearing told Mark Twain's ridiculously humorous stories? You never forget them. They make some giggle, they make some laugh, they make some get down on the floor roll over and yell they open up all the pores of the mind, soul and body, and fill one with that happy-go-lucky feeling of good humor; squeezing out every atom of grinch and selfishness and leaving him in love with himself and all the world, yet kill off the blues.

No one, young or old, black or white, can afford to miss it. The highest nobility of Europe, the busiest and best informed of our own America have given of their time to see and enjoy it—they say universally it is great. Ask anyone whom you know has seen it, what they honestly think of it. We have arranged so everybody can enjoy it by putting on one show Friday at 7:30 p. m. and two shows Saturday, starting at 7:00 o'clock. Come Friday, something might happen. You can also tell your friends whether or not to see it.

Admission: Adults, 30c; Children, 20c.

Come, everybody. It is delightful, nonsensical, fantastic humor and comedy of the highest degree.

Mrs. Mamie Miller and daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Grimes, of Monette, Mo., arrived in Hartford, Tuesday, Oct. 20, with Jack Holt and Bebe Daniels' aunts, Mrs. Joe C. Bennett and Mrs. P. B. Taylor.

Mrs. H. M. Downey and children, of Hudson, Ill., arrived Friday night to make an extended visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Newcomb, of the Washington, vicinity. Mr. Downey will not arrive until some time later.

Mr. T. H. Black, Organization Chairman of the Ohio County Dark Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, attended a meeting of County Chairmen of the entire Dark Tobacco District, at Hopkinsville Friday.

Paramount Pictures will be shown each Friday night at Star Theatre, Hartford, Ky., beginning Friday, Oct. 20, with Jack Holt and Bebe Daniels in "North of the Rio Grande." Doors open 7:00; Show begins 7:30.

Messrs. Clayton Balze and Guy Davless, of Linton, Ind., spent from Sunday to Tuesday last week as guests of the former's sister, Mrs. Charlie Smith and family of near town, and Rube Balze, and family, of McHenry.

Roscoe Stone, who for some time had been employed with C. B. Carden & Company, Hartford, together with his family, have moved to Olaton, Mr. W. O. Cole, who is in the employ of C. B. Carden & Co., to gether with his family, moved from the home they occupied on City Street, into the home vacated by the Stone's on Union Street.

Announcement is made of the birth of a son on September 25, to Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Penland, Louisville, christened Robert Hamilton. Mrs. Penland was formerly Miss Mazie Clark, daughter of Mr. W. A. Clark, of this city.

Demas, the Deserter

By REV. J. R. SCHAFER
Director of Evening Classes, Moody
Bible Institute, Chicago.

TEXT—Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world.—II Tim. 4:10.

This is the shortest biography in the annals of men—yet the tragedy of a lifetime is depicted in these words, Demas, the deserter.

What an execution! How base and vile. Of all men, he is the most despised. Centuries ago the war of Christendom had just begun. Traveling worldwide, the great general of the cause recruited patriots to his standard in city, village and hamlet. He came into Colosse one day and gathered a crowd in the market place. He told the story of the awful conflict raging—he called for volunteers—and a fine specimen of Greek youth, educated in the subtleties of philosophy, cultured in the fine arts of his renowned land, materialized into all his secrets of pleasure and enjoyment, stepped out of the throng. He had been thrilled by the recital of heroic deeds, emboldened by sacrifice and suffering. The appeal of the heroic deed, his soul, a burning desire was kindled to follow this great leader. He enlisted beneath the banner of the cross. He swore allegiance to the Christ of Calvary. He left home and kindred, he became a soldier-officer in the great general of the Christian forces. For several years he shared the honors of war, the spoils of victory, until one day in a fierce conflict with the enemy the great Commander is taken prisoner and cast into a dungeon he came to await execution. This was too much for the gallant young captain. Disappointed, disconsolate, he deserted.

General Paul writes a letter to Colonel Timothy of his staff and tells him the sad news. What a tragedy! He has fought side by side with the greatest and bravest of soldiers; he has shared the triumphs of the cross from Antioch to Rome; then he deserted to the ranks of the enemy, forsaking Christ for the world. No wonder the heart of the apostle is stunned broken. It seems as if he can hear the sob of his sorrow in these words:

How can we account for this desertion?

I. Demas Was Never a True Soldier. A true soldier fights until peace is proclaimed or death rewards his faithfulness. He may lose courage at times when hard pressed, may doubt and falter; may even be defeated in battle, but he can never, never desert. Desertion is the proof of a superficial motive, the result of an attachment. His heart, soul, will, life, have not been abandoned to the cause. The Apostle John has explained this experience. When referring to the multitude of disciples who deserted Jesus, he says: "If they had been of us, they would not have gone out from us."

Demas is always present in history of the church. Thousands under the spell of hell songs and melodramatic appeals have professed allegiance to Christ. They have put on the uniform, taken their place in the ranks, perfected the drill, gone into battle, but when real fighting came, they were reported missing.

II. Demas Reveals the Deception of the Human Heart.

It is possible to be closely resembled a Christian that only God can tell the difference. When and how they meet, they are made manifest. Soldiers wear the uniform of war, fight under the same banner, follow the same commander until the crisis comes, then the stripes, the other deserts. Salva camp in the land of deception. He seeks to deceive men and women with a form of godliness, kindness and wealth. The more nearly the counterfeit resembles the genuine, the greater the deception. Hundreds of unconverted people have been deceived. A profession, a uniform, a dress parade, a battle have been the boast of deception, but their name is Demas, for when wounds, bloodshed and sacrifice came, they deserted.

III. Demas Shows the Subtle Attraction of the World.

Who can deny the fascination, the bewitchery of this world? Its riches charm like the siren, its sounds on chant the siren voices, its feelings treasures create a riot of passion, its pomp and pride intoxicate the soul. Demas was a young man, it was said. He was a youth, young his heart to the love of temporal things. "If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him." Friendship with the world is deadly to God. To let the attention on things on this earth, is to deny heaven its rightful obligation. To follow the world's vanities and principles is to discount the Word of God and the guidance of His Spirit. To live for a good time in a doomed world where shadows are going the downward path to hell, is for Nero to build white Rome burns, for the captain to dance while the Titanic sinks. God has called us not only to salvation, but out of the world. "Come ye out from among them and be ye separate."

World's Largest Reservoir.

In about two years London's reservoir at Millerton will be the largest artificial reservoir in the world. It will hold water to supply London for a month, or 6,000,000,000 gallons. Its surface will cover 800 acres.

TEND TO STARVE THE BRAIN

Writer Warns of Pernicious Effects That May Be Exercised by the Stiff Collar.

We are once more threatened with the stiff, tight, pre-war collar. Doctors have repeatedly warned parents against the dangers of allowing their sons to wear collars of this type.

It is pointed out that the wearing of high, stiff, light collars retards the flow of blood to the brain, and thus starves the brain cells, says London 'Times'.

The result of this brain starvation is that the wearer becomes lethargic, and stupid and dull in his school work. His brain is not up to the tasks it is required to perform; he becomes indifferent to his studies, and with pore over his books in a semi-dazed manner. Often, too, he will take less interest in athletics, and this tends to reduce his vitality and mental activity.

Although the effect of wearing a high, stiff collar is not so noticeable in the case of an adult, it is not good for the general health, and also leads to colds.

The old-fashioned stiff collar with turned-down corners is still worn by Doctor Chamberlain, while for years Lloyd George has worn a kind of Gladstone collar, but without the gap of the throat.

Bernard Shaw has always denounced the starched collar as an emblem of the past. Many other famous men, especially literary and artistic celebrities, have worn soft collars. Byron always wore a style of his own—soft, wide open.

JOYS ARE BUT TRANSITORY

Delectable Perfumes Will Not Long Gladden the Prisoner in Cleveland County Jail.

Affair of roses and sweet scents of Anahy! There's an electric perfume at the county jail. It casts all kinds of sweetness on the prison air. Just turn the button and the jail becomes a garden of roses or fragrant with the scent of orange blossoms.

The other day the atmosphere of the jail reflected the aroma of the forest cedar. It might have been Norway pine, sassafras, or apple blossom, but it just happened that the perfume was changed to disperse an aroma blured with forest cedar.

The machine has possibilities, the sheriff believes. It might be employed to awaken the prisoners each morning with scents of violets and scotch thorn at breakfast with odors of ham, eggs, corn fritters, grapefruit and other viands and on the regular morning menu of coffee and butterless bread.

Oh, yes, indeed, the machine has possibilities. If it was charged with a few quarts of hooch radiated in cells, why, the old jail would be one of the most popular breathing places in the county.

At night it could discharge the odor of pineapple or figs or dates, and any prisoner with a good sense of smell and a strong imagination could readily go to sleep and feel that he was in Hawaii.

But the perfume is in jail only on trial. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Timber Far Ahead.

What of those timber assets in the national forests? They contain 300 billion feet of standing timber, or twenty-five per cent of the remaining timber in the United States, says the American Forestry Magazine. All told the national forests embrace seven-tenths per cent of all forest growing land in the United States. In addition to the many millions of acres containing forests of merchantable size, there are twenty million acres bearing young growing forests which are being protected against fire and other forms of devastation so that they will produce timber crops in the years ahead. The American forestry association calls on the owners, the citizens, to protest against taking the control of these forests from the United States forest service.

Linotype Laughs.

C. D. Gibson of Life has a choice collection of newspaper misprints, some of which are gems. At a dinner in New York he quoted a number of them. One was about a bishop who was laid up with a cold. A newspaper reported that he was "continued to the house with a violent cold."

Another told of a "surgeon" being taken alive in the river and being sold for six cents a pound. But the most amusing one, he said, was clipped from a Vermont paper. This paper, wishing to say in praise of a very aged and distinguished citizen that he was "a noble old huncher proudly living in his native state," was made to say, according to Mr. Gibson, "John Green is a noble old huncher, prowling around in a naked state." —Boston Transcript.

Rural Development.

"I understand you are going to make some improvements on the old place?"

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornssett. "Development is going along mighty fast, and I've got to keep up with it."

"What kind of improvements are you going to make?"

"I haven't made up my mind yet whether to put up a new barn or a speckment house." —Washington Star.

No Gold Coins for France

For the first time in history not a single gold coin was struck at the French mint in 1920. The minting of silver, continued at the beginning of the year, was stopped when silver reached a record price on February 11.

MEXICANS TAKE TO "MOVIES"

Popular American Amusement May Yet Take the Place of the Sanitary Bull Fight.

The movie is displacing the bull fight as the popular amusement of Mexico.

"The motion picture undoubtedly holds these places in the amusement field of the Chihuahua consular district," says Vice Consul Ott in a report to the Department of Commerce.

"From one small, insignificant circus tent installed in Chihuahua city some ten or fifteen years ago the business has grown until today there are in the consular district 15 permanently established movie houses where pictures are exclusively shown, with a number of legitimate theaters giving occasional exhibitions."

"This development occurred partly during a period of revolution, when it was no uncommon thing to have the performance interrupted by firing on the outskirts of the city."

Ott says that the upper classes demand emotional dramas and melodramas and the peasants prefer westerns and slapstick comedies.

American machines are used exclusively. European makers having failed to sell a single projector.

Tribe That Devours Its Children.

"Since the doctor came here we have seen the most wonderful things happen. First of all he kills the sick people; then he cures them, and after that he wakes them up again." So a native girl wrote of Dr. Albert Schweitzer, author of "On the Edge of the Primeval Forest," who went out in 1913 to the Ogowe lowlands of the French colony of Gaboon, there to maintain for four and a half years a surgical and medical clinic for the negroes.

"Our country devours its own children," was the sage remark of an old chief. A vicious climate, a plentiful lack of proper food, overindulgence in rum and strong tobacco were killing off the natives rapidly when Doctor Schweitzer arrived. One of the worst problems was chronic malarial poisoning, producing acute constipation and nervous disturbances. The tobacco comes from America in the form of leaves, frightfully strong, and is so highly prized by the natives that it is used as money—a single leaf buying two fine pineapples.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Hartford citizen.

J. F. Gillespie, mechanic, Union St., says: "I have had attacks of kidney complaint. My back ached and my kidneys were weak and irregular in action. At times it was necessary for me to get up during the night to pass the kidney secretions. I knew Doan's Kidney Pills were good for the trouble as others in the family had been cured by their use. One box of Doan's cured me and I have had no further trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—yet Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Gillespie had. Foster-McBurn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

NEEDS OF "YOUNG AMERICA"

European Critic Thinks That Youth of Great Republic Suffers From Too Much Freedom.

George Santayana, famous philosopher and writer, in an article written especially in the Forum on "America's Young Radicals," says:

"I have made a severe effort to discover as well as I may from the fance what these rebels want. I see what they are against—they are against everything—but what are they for? I have not been able to discover it. This may be due to my lack of understanding or to their incapacity to express themselves clearly, for their style is something appalling. Ten perhaps this scandalous failure in expression, when expression is what they yearn for and demand at all costs, may be a symptom of something deeper; of a radical mistake they have made in the direction of their efforts and aspirations. They think they need more freedom, more room, a chance to be more spontaneous. I suspect that they have had too much freedom, too much empty space, too much practice in being spontaneous when there was nothing in them to bubble out. Their style is a sign of this; it is not merely that they have no mastery of the English language as hitherto spoken, no clear sense of the value of words, and no simplicity; that they are without the vocabulary or the idiom of cultivated people. . . . No, it is not more freedom that young America needs in order to be happy; it needs more discipline."

ON EQUALITY WITH HUSBANDS

Philippine Women, Entering Into Matrimony, Become Partners in Future Business Enterprises.

"When a Philippine woman marries she goes into partnership with her husband," said Miss Sofia Reyes de Veyra, wife of the Philippine commissioner to the United States. "While the men handle the work and employees, the women attend to the finances, act as cashiers, pay the workers and oversee much of the business."

Things are made easy in many ways for Philippine women, she asserted, writes Louise Cattel in the Milwaukee Journal. Professional opportunities are as good for them as for men. Women are already members of the Philippine Bar association, a privilege not open to British women.

"Married women in the Philippines hold their property in severalty, and are guardians of their own children. Of the property which accrues to a married couple, the wife is half administrator and there are vested rights which cannot be taken away. It is not unusual for the mother of a family to have not only household leadership, but economic control."

Women's clubs are rapidly growing in the islands, Miss de Veyra said, and pointed out that already 305 clubs and associations exist, which have formed a federation.

FAITH OF MOTHERS

By MARTHA M. BARTLETT

(C. 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

The cellar, with its cement floor, was cool and inviting as Elizabeth entered, bearing a rack of jelly. Two closets occupied part of the southern wall. In the larger she deposited 18 tumblers; in the smaller, two. The labels proclaimed that this day's preserving was crabapple.

Worthy of note were the rows of rhubarb and strawberry conserve and other fruit.

Elizabeth lovingly touched each glass, bright and colorful with the fruit. A footstep, a shadow, and she hastily turned the key. Before she could withdraw the keeper of her secret, Daniel, her husband, had grasped it.

"Why all this concealment?" he demanded.

"It is a custom in my family," she replied. "As far back as I have any knowledge, the women maintained two closets. The smaller contained a tenth of the year's preserving. It was given to the sick in the neighborhood, the church and the hospital. A certain percentage was sold and the proceeds used for the needy."

"Very fine, very fine, elegant; but why, why, did your foremothers take this course?"

"Because they felt the truth of the proverb, 'The liberal shall be made fat; and he that watereth shall be watered also himself.'"

Daniel looked the door with determination. After putting the key in his pocket, he faced his wife.

"I hope you do not think for one instant that you are going to give away my fruit to lazy people, too shiftless to provide for the winter. I forbid you to do anything of the kind; it all belongs to me."

"But, Daniel, when you married me, one year ago, you said, 'With all my worldly goods I thee endow,' and this is a very small portion. You cannot, you must not, you shall not deprive me of this privilege."

Her husband jerked himself towards the stairs angrily. "Elizabeth, I've told you something, and I mean it." Then, without another word, he strode away to attend a meeting of the selectmen.

With a screwdriver she pried off the hinges. Running to the barn, she soon returned with a two-wheeled pushcart.

She now worked with fierce energy, wrapping every jar and tumbler in newspaper and placing them in the wagon.

A glorious full moon was rising as Elizabeth commenced her pilgrimage.

For a mile she followed the rutted path, used only for hauling wood. Strange shapes and sounds frightened her, but at last she halted beside the disused hut of Old Jake, the hermit, dead now for twenty years. The furnishings consisted of a rude bunk, a table, one chair and a rusty stove.

Who can say what agony of mind she suffered during the next four hours? At the end of that time Daniel found his girl wife, having tracked her by the wheel marks.

The jars had been unpacked and were in rows on the ancient table. Elizabeth looked up as he came in with his flashlight, but her eyes held for him no recognition.

"Oh, how do you do?" Her face was white, and her lips quivered. "I am so glad you came. I cannot go home to my husband; he has his own private opinions about a certain matter—and—and—we have quarreled. I need a friend. I have been defending my property; Old Jake comes here every few minutes—with a knife. He wants to steal my preserves. Somehow, he resembled my husband. 'Oh!' she shrieked, 'there he is again, with his sharp dagger. Don't, oh, don't let him hurt me.'"

With comforting words Daniel gathered her in his arms. Using glint strides and running most of the way, he carried her home.

It was five days after. The doctor came from the sickroom and grasped Daniel's hand. "By George!" he exclaimed, "she's really going to live; she is free from delirium, and wants to see her husband."

Very softly Daniel tiptoed in and knelt beside the bed, slipping his arm beneath her shoulders. She seemed blissfully happy to be held in this manner. Suddenly she inquired, "Where is my tooth?"

Daniel rose and walked to a basket where Daniel Abbott, Jr. (age four days), was making funny faces at a blue and white blanket. "Why, Elizabeth," he replied, "this is only your first."

Then, sensing her meaning: "Oh, down in the closet, which shall be held sacred. And, dearest, as a token of gratitude for a restored wife, I am planning to build a third closet. In it, from year to year, little son and I will place one-tenth of all the vegetables raised on this farm. They are to be given to destitute widows and orphans, and to poor families where the father is sick. Oh, look! Junior is smiling and has hold of my finger. That's right, partner, shake hands on it."

Different Now.

De Style—His stenographer used to take 200 words a minute and be continually bragged about it.

Gundastu—He married her, didn't he?

De Style—Yes, and now whenever he comes home he has to take about 600 words a minute.—New York Sun.

ANCIENT PEOPLE A MYSTERY
Excavations on Site of Askalon and Gaza May Throw Light on Philistines.

A further attempt is to be made this summer to solve the "mystery of the Philistines."

Professor Garstland, the archaeologist, has returned to Palestine after his visit to England and has started to mark out sites for further excavations.

During the past two years the professor and his assistants have been engaged in making exploration on the sites of the ancient cities of Askalon and Gaza.

This season's trial explorations are to be made upon a series of "tells" (artificial hill mounds, the debris of successive cities near the two sites of Askalon and Gaza. Little is known of the national history of the Philistines, and it is the object of the new excavations to get at the problem of this mysterious race.

Professor Garstland considers that it would be too prolonged and expensive a business to dig through the great depth of Graeco-Roman buildings to the deeper layers in which lie the Philistine remains of the city of Askalon, so that the excavations will be outside the walls of the city. A good deal of pottery has been discovered and a few weapons which may have been used against King David.

Many theories have been advanced as to who the Philistines were, and from whence they came, but it is generally believed their origin was in the neighborhood of the island of Cyprus. Reference is made to them in the pre-Mosaic period, but for at least 3,000 years they have remained a mystery.

Home Hunters Take All Except Ghost.
It was a haunted house in a gossip neighborhood, relates the New York Herald. Residents assembled daily and talked in muffled tones of spirits and queer noises. With such advance advertising the real estate agent found it difficult to get a "prospect" near the house. As a last resort he decided to have the place redecorated and to install new electric fixtures and plumbing.

The work had scarcely been completed when the agent heard a "live one" had visited the property. Rushing off to the caretaker he inquired breathlessly: "Is it true that someone has taken the house?"

"No, sir, not yet," replied the caretaker, "but they've taken the fixtures, piping and doorknobs. Perhaps they'll come back for the house."

CREDIT TO AMERICAN RULE

Affairs of Colony of Pago Pago, in the South Seas, Declared Admirably Managed.

According to Randolph Bedford, in a recent number of Our World, Pago Pago is the "happiest community on earth."

This island in the Samoan group is the southernmost outpost of American government. Little has been said about this colony of ours; probably there are a great many Americans who do not even know that we have it. But in our administration of its affairs we have demonstrated, according to Mr. Bedford, who is an Australian globe trotter and journalist, that we govern our colonies better than we govern ourselves.
